DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

2. Claims 1-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. The specification fails to clearly articulate what structure or elements constitute the “actuator mounted to the handle and connected to the diverter.”

3. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

4. Claims 1-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

5. The claims fail to provide any structure or limiting features that define what constitutes the “actuator”.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments filed 30 December 2008 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Regarding the applicant's argument on pp. 8 and 9 of the remarks: “Accordingly, in the exemplary embodiment described in the specification, the conduit 104 functions as the actuator for the diverter (i.e., the barrel 100), and the conduit 104 is mounted to the handle assembly 12 through the conduit 31 of the lower handle 18 and is connected to the diverter/barrel 100 (claim elements underlined). Movement of the actuator in the form of the conduit 104 by movement of the handle assembly 12 actuates movement of the diverter in the form of the barrel 100 due to the mounting of the actuator to the handle and the connection of the actuator to the diverter.’ Further, claim 2 specifies that the actuator includes a connector between the handle and the diverter so that the diverter moves between the dry suction position and the wet suction position as the handle rotates between a dry suction position and a wet suction position, which supports Applicant's position that the conduit 104/connector is an embodiment of the actuator mounted to the handle and connected to the diverter.” The examiner fails to find this exact description in the original disclosure. The only places in the original description that the examiner finds the term “actuator” are paragraph 2 on page 4; and, paragraph 3 on page 6; both of which merely state, “an actuator connected to the handle and the diverter...” The examiner finds no further descriptive text to describe the “actuator.” Assuming arguendo, i.e. “the conduit 104 functions as the actuator for the diverter (i.e., the barrel 100), and the conduit 104 is mounted to the handle assembly 12 through the conduit 31 of the lower handle 18 and is connected to the diverter/...”, per applicant’s arguments supra, although the claims are interpreted in light of the specification, limitations from the specification are not read into the claims. See In re Van Geuns, 988 F.2d 1181, 26 USPQ2d 1057 (Fed. Cir. 1993). The structure which makes up the device must be clearly and positively specified and the claims themselves must be organized and correlated in such a manner as to present a complete operative device.

Art Unit: 3723

Conclusion

6. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
